

Weber recalls memories...

Education, when Weber assumed the CHS principalship in 1952. The climate on the CHS campus in 1952 was described by Weber as having "good spirit," as the school commenced on a building renewal program.

The cities of Lyons and Clinton had merged in 1895, but the two school districts did not consolidate until 1947.

In 1953, one year after arriving on the CHS scene, Weber was deeply involved in preparations to combine the two high schools.

"It was a very controversial issue at that time. I kept hearing that it would never work. However, we got busy, and during that year we got the groups of students together and mandated that there had to be representation of the students coming from Lyons High School as officers in clubs and on the council."

Recalling the year of consolidation, Weber added, "We started the school year together in 1954. At first, there was kind of a pause in which the two groups, who were intended to join, held their breath to see if it would really work."

"It was one of the most wonderful, enjoyable years I can remember. It was a challenge, but the student leaders from both groups put everything into making it work. I really think there was more adult resistance than student resistance."

Fire another milestone

The Jan. 8, 1968, high school fire also was another milestone experienced by Weber during his tenure at CHS. "At the time, it felt like a fantastic tragedy. My first thoughts were, 'My goodness, what are we going to do now?'"

"However, the fire proved that there's always a way of working out a problem, even though the solution may not always be ideal. In this case, the students only lost five days of school, before classes were back in session."

Before assuming the CHS post, Weber had served as assistant principal and director of guidance at Muscatine High School and Junior College for four years.

Weber award initiated

A tribute — the Harold W. Weber Award — will be established in Clinton in recognition of the 24 years Weber served as principal of Clinton High School.

Mrs. Lou Lyon, Clinton Community School Board member and chairman of the Weber Award Committee, said the award will be presented to a CHS graduating senior annually.

"The recipient will be a graduating senior from CHS, who demonstrates the qualities and attributes that Skip himself exemplifies such as honesty, compassion, dedication, concern for excellence and compassionate caring for his fellowman," Mrs. Lyon added.

The tribute is not a scholarship because eligibility will not be based on grades. The award will be based on demonstration of a student's service to his fellowman, reflection of high moral values and contributions through community and school activities.

Applications are being sent to groups and organizations in Clinton to nominate a student for the award.

Mrs. Lyon, who has spearheaded the project, said the committee hopes adequate funds will be received to insure that the interest from the contributions will provide for an annual award.

Persons wishing to make a contribution should send their donation to Clinton High School, in care of Robert B. Schley, CHS principal, 8th Avenue South and 9th St., Clinton.

In addition to Mrs. Lyon, members of the tribute committee are Mrs. Lois Miller from the Clinton Board of Education; Schley; Charles Hunter, Clinton Education Association president; Kelly Spooner, Sean Montgomery and Randy Werner representing the CHS student body.

The committee, which has worked for several months to formulate the tribute for Weber, announced details of the award this week to coincide with American Education Week, which was observed Nov. 14-20.

"The committee feels many people and organizations will want to pay tribute to this man's outstanding contributions to the Clinton schools and to the community," Mrs. Lyon said. "He gave generously of himself and his expertise in all areas of education in the Clinton community."

MCC students attend DECA conference

Darrell Hetzler and Jerry Myers, both of Muscatine Community College, attended the recent 1976 Central Region DECA Leadership Conference held in Wichita, Kan.

The conference was attended by approximately 1,500 high school and junior collegiate members of the Distributive Education Clubs

Coronary Risk project names liaison group

The organizational meeting of the Citizen's Advisory Committee to the Coronary Risk Factor Project was held at the offices of the project in room 400 of the Hotel Muscatine, Tuesday.

The meeting was conducted by Dr. Ronald M. Lauer, physician in charge of the project. He explained to the committee ways in which they can help serve as liaisons between the project and citizens in the community.

Ed Calliger, vice president of Central State Bank and member of the school board, was named chairman. Other members of the committee are Harold Vischer, vice president of Bandag; Phyllis Rahf, teacher at Jefferson; Evelyn Schauland, mayor; Dr. Charles Honnold, physician at the Muscatine Community Health Center; Nancy Tietge, school nurse; Art Sensor, superintendent of schools; and Don Hogan, chief of police.

of America (DECA). The students were from the 13 states in the central region: South Dakota, North Dakota, Illinois, Nebraska, Indiana, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, Kansas and Iowa.

The conference consisted of a number of workshops, seminars, and exhibits. Louise Mendez, federal coordinator of Industry, Education and Labor; and Murry Banks, world-famous psychologist, were guest speakers.

Hetzler, a freshman from Muscatine, is president and Myers, a freshman from Keosauqua, is vice president of Iowa JC DECA. Both are enrolled in the feed and fertilizer marketing program at MCC.

The students were accompanied to the conference by Brad Funk, an instructor in the feed and fertilizer marketing program. Funk is advisor to Alpha Mu Sigma, MCC's DECA chapter, and is executive secretary of Iowa JC DECA.

DECA, a nationwide organization, is designed to prepare individuals for careers in marketing and distribution. Nine community colleges in Iowa are affiliated with the junior collegiate division of DECA.

Deeds recorded Myrna D. Tames to Randall L. and Sheryl L. Sell as joint tenants, warranty deed, lot 8, block 4 of Park Place Addition to City of Muscatine.

His educational experience also included serving as a teacher and coach at Muscatine High and junior college, head coach of junior college basketball, high school football and track from 1935 to 1948. The years, 1944 to 1946, were interrupted, as the Muscatine native left the classroom, and served as a Navy gunnery officer in the Pacific.

Weber received a bachelor's and master's degree from the University of Iowa in 1935 and 1951, respectively. Additional study has included attendance at a curriculum seminar at Columbia University, workshops at the University of Colorado and University of Indiana, National Institute of Science and National Institute of Social Studies at the University of Iowa and institutes on modular flexible scheduling and teacher education and professional standards at the University of Iowa.

In addition, Weber's involvement in educational organizations has included serving as president of the Iowa State Education Association in 1956, on the ISEA board of directors in 1957, state coordinator of the Iowa Association of Secondary School Principals for 18 years, and on the National Association of Secondary School Principals' board of directors from 1971-1975.

Concerning his decision to enter the educational profession, Weber said, "I believe I became an educator, and remained one for 41 years, because of my continuing desire to help youngsters become mature young women and men. Through all these years, I've been very happy in, and have loved, my work. My heart kept receiving messages reflecting beauty, courage, joy and excitement. This has kept me young, at least in outlook."

Intend to stay in Clinton

Weber took an early retirement after suffering a heart attack. The Webers reside at 711 Elmhurst Ct., and commenting on their decision to remain in Clinton, Weber noted, "In the 24 years my wife, Laura, and I have lived in Clinton, we have discovered friends to be such a great asset, and love is the most important thing on earth. We have both — friends and love — in Clinton, and intend to stay in Clinton through our retirement years."

In addition to reading a great deal, enjoying the constant companionship of his apparent treasure, his dog, Misty, and having plans to get back on the golf course next summer, Weber also attends home athletic games and various other school activities.

"I can't let go of my interest in school events, because it's in the activities where you see a side of a young person that you don't see anywhere else."

"I used to stop in and watch the practices in various activities, because you can see values in persons that perhaps may never become apparent, when they are in the classroom or walking down the halls."

Commenting on the importance of the extra-curricular program, the former CHS principal said, "Such activities do make a contribution to the growth and development of the individual."

"There have been so many examples over the years. In the speech program, students as sophomores start debate, and by the time they are seniors they have developed so much confidence and poise. Any one of the activities can be used as an example. In dramatics, how can anyone think that it's easy to memorize lines and perform before groups of people. In band, look at the changes made by Dave Gaulrapp, and I think the CHS music department is one of the best."

"I also think that it is so fantastic that there is a full athletic program for the girls," he continued. "If we thought we had some real tigers with the boys, there are some real competitors with the girls' groups."

"During my years at CHS, there have been some wonderful, wonderful student groups. I cannot think of a time, when I had asked for assistance in solving a problem or with some kind of troublesome situation, they had not been cooperative."

"I believe the quality of students attending Clinton High School is excellent. We should expect the very best from our students and should tell them so. We then should do our very best to help the students achieve to their maximum. It is a fact CHS graduates, who have made an effort as students, compete very well as they enter the adult world."

'Loved my work'

"I have loved my work, because out of problems or negative situations, the very worst of them, could, and would become something positive, which would be very helpful in the future."

"The happy-times predominated by a great majority, which permits me to say that I have always been proud of the representation our River Queens and Kings have given to our school and community."
